CONGRESSIONAL CHAT.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS OF THE 46th CONGRESS.

Statue of General Morgan—The Kellogg Contested Seat—The Pension Deficiency Appropriation Bill Passed—Agricultural Interests—Colored ex-Soldiers as Pensioners—Full Report.

By Telegraph to the News.

SENATE.

Senator Davis, of Illinois, from the Judiciary Committe, reported favorably on House bill to establish a district and circuit court at Chattanooga, and to add the county of Grundy to the eastern district of Tennessee. Passed.

Senator Bayard, from the Committee on Finance, reported with amendment a bill authorizing the bonds of manufacturers of tobacco, snuff and cigars exporting the same to be cancelled at the port of clearance. Placed on calendar. The amendments make the the bill conform to the bill reported to the House from the Ways and Means Committee, the object being to facilitate the passage of the bill directly from the Speaker's table.

Senator Hampton from the Committee on Military Affairs, reported favorably on the bill to furnish a bronze statue of Gen. Daniel Morgan, to the Cow-pens centennial. Passed.

At the expiration of the morning hour the Senate resumed the consideration of the Kellogg-Spofford resolutions. Senator Saulsbury made a long and elaborate argument in favor of the resolutions. At its conclusion, House resolution providing for the adjournment on May 31st, was laid before the Senate and read for the first time. Senator Conkling called attention to the fact that the resolution was worded as a joint and not a concurrent resolution. He objected to its second reading to-day. It therefore lies on the table.

Senator Morgan then proceeded to speak upon the Kellogg-Spofford resolutions.

Senator Morgan's argument on the Kellogg resolutions were informally laid aside until to-morrow, when Mr. Butler will speak on them.

After the transaction of some unimportant business the Senate, at 5:40, adjourned.

HOUSE.

Mr. Cabell, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported back the Pension Deficiency Appropriation bill. The bill is similar to one reported last week, with an additional clause appropriating $6,000 to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to employ one of the steamers of the revenue marine now on the Pacific Coast for the relief of the officers and crews of the whaling barks Mount Wallaston and Vigilant, now imprisoned in the Arctic Ocean. The bill was considered in the House as well as in the Committee of the Whole.

Mr. Chalmers offered an amendment construing the act of March 3d, 1873, entitled an act to place colored persons on who enlisted in the army on the same footing as other soldiers as to bounty and pensions, so as to extend its provisions to the heirs of such soldiers in their claims for military service.

The amendment was ruled out on a point of order.

Mr. Chalmers appealed from the decision.

Mr. Garfield suggested that the amendment should be withdrawn and unanimously passed as a separate measure when preceding bills should have been disposed of, and this suggestion was agreed to.

The Pension Deficiency bill then passed without amendment.

Mr. Chalmers then offered as a separate measure an amendment which he had offered to the deficiency bill, and it was agreed to.

Mr. Covert, of New York, chairman of Committee on Agriculture, reported back the Agricultural Appropriation bill and the House went into committee of the whole; thereupon Mr. Covert explained the provisions of the bill and dwelt upon the importance of fostering the agricultural interests of the country.

Mr. Aiken, of South Carolina, a member of the Committee on Agriculture, spoke in support of the bill, declaring that it was time Congress recognized the importance of the agricultural interest and made liberal appropriations to encourage it.

Mr. Richardson, of South Carolina, expressed regret that the pending bill did not provide for making the office of Commissioner of Agriculture a Cabinet office. He contended that the interests of agriculture were oppressed by the tariff and navigation laws.

After some further remarks by Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, the bill was read by sections for amendments.

Mr. Young, of Tennessee, offered an amendment providing that $5,000 of the sum appropriated for the purchase of seed, etc., shall be expended in experiments for improvement in cotton culture.

Without finishing the consideration of the bill the committee rose and the House took a recess, the evening session to be for the consideration of the Court of Pensions bill.

HAYESVILLE, Clay county, N. C., May 11th, 1880.

Correspondence of the News.

At a meeting held at the courthouse in Hayesville, Clay county, the following resolutions were adopted:

1st. Resolved, That Gov. Jarvis and the action of his council in convening the Legislature in special session and the sale of the Western North Carolina Railroad meets the entire approbation of our people.

2d. Resolved, That Governor T. J. Jarvis and Lieutenant Governor J. L. Robinson and the other State officers, who are the present incumbents, are the choice of our people for renomination, and our delegates are hereby instructed to vote for them in the State Convention.

3d. Resolved, That the chairman appoint five delegates, one from each township, to attend the State Convention. That in the event they do not attend, K. Elias, Esq., is hereby appointed proxy to cast the vote of Clay county in said convention.

The following are the delegates: J. A. Lloyd, J. M. Crawford, J. M. Galloway, J. H. Alexander and W. H. McClure.

Resolved, That the Raleigh papers, Asheville Citizen and Western Reporter be requested to publish these proceedings.

W. A. HAIGLER, Chairman.
S. C. DALE, Secretary.

CAMERON, May 17, 1830.

I will give you a few items from our county. The mining portion still continue the shipment of bullion to Northern mints. Our farmers are up early and late, good cotton crops anticipated from the immense amount of fertilizers used. Politics quiet with these exceptions, we want for Governor Hon. D. G. Fowle; Lieutenant Governor, Col. Walter Clarke; Auditor, Capt. R. A. Shotwell; and for Congress, Col. Chas. M. Stedman, of New Hanover, as he is the undivided choice of two-thirds of all the counties in this District. With the foregoing ticket success will be certain, and our people all happy More again, DEMOCRAT.

The West Point Denouement—Cadet Whittaker's Explanation, Etc.

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 16.—The report of the experts identifying the "note of warning," which Cadet Whittaker said he had received, with the handwriting of Whittaker himself, is the main topic of interest. In an interview to-day Cadet Whittaker stated that last evening he was invited to Gen. Schofield's house, the latter saying he had sent for him to say that there was considerable hard feeling against him, (Whittaker,) and asked him if he had anything more to say or wished to make any confession, and if he did that would be a good time to do it. Whittaker replied that he had nothing further to say, that he had told all he knew and it was the truth, and desired to confess anything, Gen. Schofield would be the first man he would go to on account of the General's uniform kindness towards him. Whittaker said the General advised him to collect all the letters he had written lately, because in that way it might be possible to ascertain who it was had simulated his handwriting. He said the General told him he had his wishes and Whittaker judges from that remark that the General believes he is innocent, or he never would have said so. Whittaker was asked how he accounted for some of the discrepancies in his statements, and he said he could not account for them. He argued that the presence of discrepancies showed he was honest. "For," said he, "if I had invented the story, I would have learned it by heart, and then there would have been no discrepancies." He was asked how it was that he never noticed that the writing in the note of warning was like his own. He replied that he never thought of it, and that if he had written it he would not have exhibited it to 4 or 5 persons. He was asked what he thought of the experts' discovery that both of the sheets were of one paper. He said that amounted to nothing, as all the cadets use the same kind of paper, and that he wanted to say that he found the note of warning on a chair by the side of his table in the evening. He was in the habit of tearing whole sheets into halves to write on, and the person who wrote the note might have come to his room and taken a piece of his paper, and with many samples of his handwritting before him might have forged the note.

The details of Mr. Southworth's discovery are hus told more accurately: He had among the papers given him a requisition for postage stamps by Whittaker, two sheets of a letter of Whittaker to his mother, and the note of warning. He accidentally discovered that the two half sheets, on one of which the letter to Whittaker's mother was written, had never formed one sheet, but the requisition and one of the sheets on which was the letter to his mother had once been a whole sheet. That led him to compare the other two pieces of paper, and he found that the other sheet of the letter to Whittaker's mother and the note of warning had been one paper. When he made that discovery he took to his bed with excitement, and he was unable to read his report in court.

Recorder Seers says that the papers when placed in juxtaposition will be photographed and entered on the minutes of the court.

The last session for the hearing of the testimony will occur to-morrow, unless in the future some minor points may have to be inquired into. The argument by the Recorder and Lieut. Knight, Whittaker's counsel, will follow, when the court will make up its report, finishing it probably before June 1st.

Gen. Schofield says that as the report of the court is to be presented to him, he does not want to say anything on the subject. Any reports of fears of disorderly action by the cadets against Whittaker are premature, as it is the understanding among them to allow the court to take care of the whole case.

Prof. Greener still claims that Whittaker is innocent, and says he has some important points which he intends to make known over his own signature, but not to the court.

Probability of an Extra Session.

The statement is made on the highest authority that should Congress adjourn without making provision for counting the electoral vote, the President would at once issue a proclamation calling an extra session of Congress. In his message on this subject should an extra session become necessary, he will take substantially the same ground as that taken by the democratic majority in Congress; which is in effect that the safety of the government demands immediate legislation on this subject.

MECKLENBURG MATTERS.

REGULAR LETTER FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

What the People Say and How They Say It—Fowle and Jarvis—The Gubernatorial Question and State Politics in General—Mayor Graham and the Congressional Nomination.

Correspondence of the News.

CHARLOTTE, May 17, 1880.

Don't you thing "Gubernatorial Gush" (as you call it) and political taffy of all classes and descriptions is just so plentiful that it is a little below par in value? Well, your correspondent does at any rate and decides to refrain from indulging or "swears off" may more properly express it, since my transcribing the opinions of others may be considered by some as coming under that head. The papers are full of it, especially those of the capital, and it does seem that the friends of both Fowle and Jarvis are trying to "outwrite each others" (as Bro. Yates of the Democrat express it) in the Raleigh papers, and I am one, I believe; of many, who are willing to acknowledge themselves the parties so fervently consigned to the shades by Mr. Macbeth, and cry out lustily. "Hold, enough!"

Your correspondent sees some half-score or dozen country papers each week, and three Raleigh papers regularly, and truly it is amusing to read the correspondence of the dailies and the opinions of the weeklies. Where there are two pieces of this light artillery in any one county, one comes out and declares that the "staunch Jarvis" has the hearts and will certainly get the suffrage of the entire county, and shows by positive information and correct figures that he will assuredly get the nomination in June. His contemporary declares the county for the "silver-tongued" Fowle, as a unit, and by figures equally correct, and as positive information, shows that this gentleman will be nominated on the first ballot, before it is three-fourths done being counted. How is this, any way? With the correspondents it is just the same, and by the time you read some half dozen of them your head is so full of "Jarvis-Fowle, Fowle Jarvis," and you are so bothered to tell which is on top, that you will flee with pleasure to the 15-puzzle to obtain a few minutes of mental rest and quiet. I am surprised to see so many of these papers and correspondents asserting that no matter who is nominated, the Democratic party will certainly sweep the State. I do not exactly believe this, but agree with Mr. Yates, and think his head exceedingly level when he says, "no matter who may be nominated for Governor, it will take all the hard work the Democrats can do to elect him." The Democrats should put forward the strongest man, (whoever that may be) and keep the fact before the people that they will have to work to elect him. It is certainly an exceedingly bad policy to lull the people to sleep by assertions of a sure victory.

Did it ever occur to you that we never know how many great men, how many best men, we have among us; never know the merits of our next door neighbor until the canvass for nomination opens and then, (whatever the office, from a constable to Governor,) you will assuredly learn from one of his friends, through the papers, that he is one of our greatest blessings, and that God in his mercy allowed him to be born amongst us, that he might save our suffering county or State from ruin and lead us on to never-ending prosperity, and that it is only for the want of opportunity, and because his merits are not recognized, that he is not a Napoleon, a Washington or a Lee; a Caldwell, a Graham, a Ruffin or a Vance. Strange, isn't it? But I digress. I am to give you a news letter, and casting my eye above I see no news; but excuse me, these rambling thoughts were suggested to my mind by seeing a rather small calibre and smooth-bore piece nominated for one of our highest offices.

Judge Fowle obtained the delegates from Berryhill township, this county. This was a great surprise to many, but it shows us that we never know who is and who is not until it is over. I am glad that my letters have not been my opinions but those of others, since (having denied that Fowle would carry this county, and it now appearing not impossible for him to do so) somebody might suggest that I had been talking of something about which I knew nothing. How many of the above mentioned political correspondents will be open to that charge about the middle of June. By the way, I see one of these same gentleman say that Jarvis is the best politician of the two, but that Fowle is the most popular. If that were the case it would be a dead open and shut game for Jarvis, for who could win in politics, if not the politician? But we doubt this. Judge Fowle is a good politician and has a pretty good idea upon which side his bread is buttered; and Mr. Jarvis has a foe worthy of his steel, and one who will give him at least a close shave. But I am beginning to digress.

Pineville township, this county, recommended T. J. Jarvis for Governor, Thomas M. Holt for Lieut. Governor, and Col. William Johnson for Congress. The other townships, so far as heard from, send to our County Convention, which meets to-morrow (May 18th) uninstructed and unbiased.

We were much amused a few nights since at the escape of spleen from an elderly gentleman of this city. It seems that some paper of this section has come out for a candidate that is not his. He pitched into all papers doing such, condemning (or stronger) such a practice. He said they do this for a double reason; a sort of "heads I win, tails you lose" arrangement: if their man is nominated, "Let me congratulate you, I did all I could to help you, sir, which was no little." If their man was not nominated, why it afforded such a nice opportunity for a column leader somewhat on this strain: "While Mr. —— was not our choice, he is a good man, and we will heartily support him. We had other preferences, but every true Democrat and patriot must and will support the nomines of the party. Democrats, rally round your standard-bearer and give Mr. —— a rousing majority." Either they be on the blind side of the administration, or win a cheap reputation of being a good Democrat and devoted to the interests of the party. You ought to have heard him; it was rich.

A word about Bro. Shotwell, of the Farmer and Mechanic, for Auditor. A correspondent of the NEWS or the Observer, from Winston, we think, says in his letter about to this effect: "Capt. Shotwell will hardly be available for Auditor on account of his Ku-klux record." Why did not the gentleman come out and show his hand, telling who his candidate was? He will do it in his next letter, we suppose. We will show ours. We have never stated a preference of our own before in any letter to the NEWS, but we will say Capt. Randolph Shotwell is our choice for Auditor. He is a gentleman, and no man in our State is better able to fill the office than he. His suffering for his countrymen, and unjust condemnation by oppressing tyrants, is, we will inform the gentleman, so far an ineligibility, that it has won for him the hearts of all North Carolinians, and if being one of our State's most dearly beloved sons, in addition to capacity and being sans puer, sans reproche, makes a gentleman unavailable for Auditor, we cave in. Excuse us this once for transgressing the laws of a correspondent, but we could not help it. All we know is that old Mecklenburg and Lincoln are for him to a unit, and so is Gaston.

Bro. Yates thinks Gov. Jarvis should not allow one cent to be paid out of the Treasurer for the monument at King's Mountain until there is enough in it to pay necessary State expenses.

Judge Schenck will not, he says, be in the field for the nomination as a candidate for Congress in this district. Maj. C. Dowd is gaining ground it 's thought, but was brought out too late. The rub is between Maj. W. A. Graham and Col. Wm. Johnson.

The road law question is being agitated again through the columns of our papers.

"War horse" is the pet complimentary word of Bro. Woodhouse, of the Concord Register. It seems it is applicable to all of his preferences.

It seems strange that so many would-be endorsers of some candidates will insist upon informing the public that their candidate is a young man. If I was running for an office and any one should endorse me as a "young" man, I should straightway withdraw and hunt him up with a shot gun. I never could understand why, but I have always noticed that to state that a candidate was a "young man" was a death warrant to his political hopes. I suppose it is because the people who do not know him suppose he is somewhere between 17 and 21. Why not leave his age alone, or give it exact?

The Inferior Court of this county met to-day. There are some fifteen prisoners in jail to be tried.

The schedule on the Atlantic, Tennessee and Ohio Railroad, from here to Statesville has been changed to accommodate summer travel. It leaves here at 7:30 in the morning and arrives here at 7 in the evening.

Dr. Joseph Graham, of this city, was appointed by the State Medical Association, last week, as the delegate to the American Medical Association at its next session.

The Ladies Memorial Association, of this city, have decided to give an outdoor entertainment on the 15th and 16th of June for the purpose of raising funds to assist in erecting a monument to our Confederate dead.

This is a lively week. Inferior Court, county convention to-morrow, Miss Herndon Wednesday night, and Thursday evening, celebration of Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence on the 20th, (Thursday), and boquet and ball Thursday night. Visiting citizens and military will give trade a little impetus and make Charlotte look likely once more.

Crop prospects are most excellent in this section, and farmers are hard at work showing that they intend to have a prosperous year. The city has looked almost deserted for several weeks past on this account.

I see from the High Point Mercury that they have introduced a new feature in the game of "Walk Spanish" in that section. The young ladies as they pass the gentleman catch them by the seat of their breeches and nearly lift them off of the floor. At a recent play there a young lady declared she could lift a young man clear up off the floor. He had a little too much "Texas tonic" in him and when she in joke, finding she could not lift him pulled out her knife and cut the seat out, he turned and deliberately gave her a good beating. Now this is certainly a lively game and may eventually supercede the "German," but we hope not, for it is quite as "naughty" and not near so "nice" and then it might prove expensive in the way of parts. A Circus Reminiscence

"Talking about a crowd," said the grizzled veteran as, pausing, his hand went down into the tub and emerged with a glass of pink lemonade for a sweating student of zoology; "talking about a crowd! This here ain't a marker to the crowd I see once in Madison. Yes, Madison, Indiana. We struck her in '49, in August. In them days we didn't travel by railroad. The show I was with was a menagerie—Raymond & Co.; Raymond & Hunt. Mebbe you've heard of old Driesbach, the lion-tamer? He was the boss; he was with us. As I said, it was a menagerie, no circus. We just traveled to ketch Christians. Pious business. In them times one show a day was about all we give, and that in the day time, usually at two o'clock in the afternoon. The tent held 10,000 people. At 10 o'clock in the evening, or after the show was over, the canvas-men would take down the rag and hustle on to the next stopping place, leaving the animals to follow. The animals, and so on, would manage to strike a town, say at 10 o'clock in the morning, when the parade would come off and the show could be at two o'clock in the afternoon. No night performance. As I was a saying, we were going to Madison. Before we got there a lot of canvasmen came back to tell us to hurry up, the town was full of people and we'd have to show in the forenoon and afternoon. We got into Madison and that tent filled up in no time—while there were thousands outside cursing and crying because they couldn't get in. Every man loose about the fakement climbed up on wagons and yelled and pleaded with the people not to buy any more tickets; to wait until two o'clock, when another show would be given. At two o'clock the show was filled up as before, and the same howling, surging mass was there on the outside as before; the curses of the disappointed were louder than before. We begged 'em with tears in our eyes not to buy any more tickets—to.d 'em they were only throwing their money away; that we'd give a show at night. That night the same old crowd over again. The tent on the outside looked like a sack of corn in ear. Had to have men with clubs to keep the people from crowding up against the cages and being chawed up by the beasts. All Southern Indiana and all Kentuck was there. Ought to seen the lemonade business! Didn't paint it red then like we do now. People's tastes were simpler then. Can't tell you how many men we had dishing it out. Had a line of darkies reaching down to the river, three hundred yards away, carrying water for the lemonade. Fast as they'd wear out put on fresh men. How much did we charge? Charge nothin'! Never give back any change. The weather was bilin' hot that night, and lemonade cheap at a dollar a glass. Kept me busy mixing the drink—putting in the sugar, then a double-handful of acid, then another barrel of water."

"But—but the lemons?" inquired the reporter.

"Lemons? Lemons, h—l!"

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES TO THE DAILY NEWS.

Hon. Horace Maynard United States Minister at Constantinople To be Appointed Postmaster General To Succeed Judge Key who is to Resign—Other Late Telegrams.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—At the cabinet meeting to day, the President announced that he had decided to appoint Hon. Horace Maynard, of Tennessee, now the United States minister, resident at Constantinople, to succeed Judge Key as Postmaster General, with this exception the session was unimportant, the time being devoted to the consideration of Indian affairs. It was decided to release several of the Texas herders who were recently arrested in the Indian Territory by the government troops, who suspected them to be invaders.

Workingmen's Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.—The Workingmen's State Convention met to-day and effected a temporary organization and appointed committees. A real fight came up on the adoption of the majority and minority reports of the committee on Permanent Organization and the order of business of the former, providing for the election of a State Central Committee instead of entrusting the management of the affairs to Kearney, president, as heretofore, and the election of delegates to the National Greenback Labor Convention. The minority report provided for the continuance of the old organization of the party, and ignored the question of electing delegates to the National Convention. After a hot debate, the minority report was adopted, 81 to 24, and the convention adjourned till to-morrow morning.

Letter from Wake.

BUCKHORN TOWNSHIP, May 15th.

Correspondence of the News.

As the time is rapidly approaching for the assembling of our State Convention, I thought I would indite a few lines which, if you see fit, you can make use of in the columns of your instructive journal Our people out here, though quite busy with their crops, take a lively interest in politics, and especially are they interested in the action of the coming State nominating convention. As to the Governorship, I find that our people are about evenly divided between Governor Jarvis and Judge Fowle, but the expressions I have heard of individual preferences for the nomination of Lieut. Governor, are largely in favor of that talented, whole-souled gentleman, Col. Thomas M. Holt, of Alamance. Indeed I believe that he could get the unanimous vote of this township in a primary election were one to be held. It is true that some few favor other gentlemen, among the number Col. Walter Clark, but we want him for Attorney General.

The crops are looking very well, but have a rather backward tendency on account of the cold weather and for other reasons.

Yes, sir, give us Fowle or Jarvis, but Holt and Clark for Lieut. Governor and Attorney General, and we will be satisfied. We must have them.

Very truly,
ONE OF 'EM.

The Confederate Army.

London Saturday Review.

For Englishmen especially, the story of the American civil war must always possess the most powerful attractions. On both sides the principles involved were those which most deeply affect our own national feeling; the language, the race, the ideas of the combatants were our own. The army of Northern Virginia in particular, from the nature of the defence it had to maintain, and the character it earned and sustained, enlisted, and will for generations continue to enlist, the strongest English sympathies. It fought with English tenacity, English recklessness of consequences, English indifference to odds, what was from the first a very doubtful and soon became an evidently losing battle. Once only was it fairly beaten in open field; over and over again, both on the offensive and on the defensive, it proved itself more than a match for apparently overwhelming odds. Its composition resembled very closely that of our own volunteer regiments. Its chiefs were men whose personal character and public conduct displayed all the virtues on which Englishmen most pride themselves; as the people of Virginia are perhaps the most thoroughly English of all the many offsets which the mother race has planted in every part of the world. General Lee was as perfect a type of the ideal English soldier and gentlemen as history can show. "Stonewall" Jackson reproduced, with many of its eccentricities, but scarcely one of its worse and meaner features, the historic character of the Puritan leaders. Stuart, Fitzhugh Lee and Wade Hampton reminded those who closely followed their career of the finest examples of English Cavalier loyalty and simplicity.

Not Wanted.

How doth the busy, busy Grant
Improve each shining hour,
And flit from Dan to Beersheba
To pluck the third-term flower.

From Greenland's icy mountains
To India's coral strand
He bummeth up, he bummeth down,
He bummeth every land.

And yet the voter man, he thinks
That most prodigious smell
That clung about the second term
Would haunt the third as well.

And this is why the voter man
Winks hard his dexter eye
And says: "If Useless rolls the crust
I don't want any pie"

Woman's Wisdom.

"She insists that is more importance, that her family shall be kept in full health, than that she should have all the fashionable dresses and styles of the times. She therefore sees to it, that each member of her family is supplied with enough Hop Bitters, at the first appearance of any symptoms of ill health, to prevent a sickness with its attendant expense, care and anxiety. All women should exercise their wisdom in this way."—Ed.

Senate Blaine in 1872

"Now, my friends, I don't stand up here to defend the administration of General Grant. General Grant's administration points to its facts, and to its acts, not to its professions. It points you to the four years of magnificent prosperity; it points you to peace, and to respectability abroad, and to peace with all nations of the earth; it points you to a higher standard of diplomacy than has ever been known, with more brilliant results than with the cannon and the sword; it points you to a domestic policy and a foreign policy animated by the highest Christian principle known to men; it presents, in other words, a 'model of an American administration.'"

Letter from Guilford.

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 18.

The weather lately has been variable from cool to warm, and vice versa.

Trade has been lively, stocks full, crop prospects good, except fruits will be scarce; the market slimly supplied, except in butter, the best of which goes to your market.

Miss Arley Balsly was married last night to a Mr. Atkinson, near Goldsboro. No cards.

Rev. Dr. Smith has just been up to Salem preaching to that intelligent congregation of Moravians, over which Rev. Mr. Roundthaler presides.

Two railroad excursions are on the tapis, viz, the Presbyterian Sunday School to Raleigh about the 1st, and the Good Templars to Danville about the 10th—bargains not yet confirmed. I learn that the Sunday Schools of Salisbury will visit us on the 21st.

You will notice by the Daily Greensboro Patriot, which appeared as a daily on the 10th, that one Dr. Mull, who runs a livery stable, has been figuring in the Mayor's and Magistrate's Courts in several cases. He is a very large man, strong as a giant, and as stated, on being fined five dollars, defied the Mayor, police, law and everything, but finally succumbed to superior power. Then appeared a short article in the daily, not at all disrespectful, but so soon as he heard of it, repaired to the Patriot office, buggy whip in hand, and at once lit in furiously on Mr. Pell, the local, striking him several blows, and then attempted to whip Mr. Fulghum, but was prevented by friends and the police, as was shown in the court. An immense crowd gathered in the court room to see what turn such acts of violence would take, the judgment of the magistrate being thirty days in prison, and pay all costs, after which a bond for five hundred dollars and security to keep the peace six months in the case of Pell, and in the case of Fulghum pay five dollars and costs, and in the case of Chasey, whom he struck and knocked over after these assaults, a fine of twenty dollars and costs. Scott & Caldwell, and Col. Staples for the city, and Gregory & Steel for the defence.

I may safely say that never has such a case occurred here, nor ever this people so indignant, and yet good judgment prevailed, so that no violence was shown or attempted. The lawyers, Messrs. Gregory & Steel, for the defendant, plead guilty, and acknowledged that whiskey that day brought him to that trouble, and but for it doubtless no attack would have been made.

The liberty of the press—take that from this people, and what would we be?

Wade Hampton and His Leg.

Brooklyn Eagle Letter.

It is rather mournful to look at Wade Hampton in the Senate, nursing his stump of a leg and subjecting his splendid physique to the disgrace of crutches. He is the only cripple in the body, I mean visible so. To be sure his colleague, the dashing Butler, has but one leg, but you might watch him move about for ten years and not know it, so perfectly does he manage his cork. To be sure, too, there are men who suffer, sometimes intensely, for trying to stop bullets in the late unpleasantness, like Gordon and Ransom and Maxey; but their infirmities are not visible. Not so with Hampton. He is in the very prime of life, scarcely over fifty, and a hopeless cripple. Nobody feels pain on looking at Aleck Stephens, for his case is just the result of a slow and natural process of decay, which he rather seems to relish. But you insensibly feel a deep sympathy with Hampton's loss as with the late Senator Morton's infirmities, because both came along prematurely, like the hurricane on the oak, and marred powerful frames. And the General croons over his abbreviated limb all the time—not in any growing or testy spirit, for he is the soul of patience, but it must be remembered that his whole life has been one of nerve, vim, dash, and his present forced inactivity must only intensify the memory of his daring exploits and "moving accidents by flood and field." Can it be supposed that when Morton sat in the Senate, a big, chained dog, the defenseless prey of the smallest cur that had legs and could use them, he never fretted at the picture of his past activity, when he used to bound into the saddle at his Governor's office in war times, and dash to camp or arsenal, the very embodiment of physical vigor as he lashed his horse to a white foam through the excited streets? No wonder, then, that while the General nurses his leg, he also nurses manly regrets. Several interesting incidents happened lately in a single day, as told by one of Hampton's intimate friends. The General, in the hope of picking up some views about cut legs, has a way of stopping people similarly afflicted. As he was standing on his crutches in the main hall, near the Senate entrance, a large man came along, his right leg lost above the knee, and he had some patent arrangement that seemed like a framework, light and portable, to help him out of his scrape. Accosting him, Hampton spoke of their mutual infirmities, and asked how that arrangement worked. "Very well," replied the stranger "It is an invention of my own"—and he went on to explain it. "May I ask where you lost your leg?" inquired the General. "Yes, certainly, it went off when Hampton charged our battery at Gettysburg." "Indeed; I'm grieved to hear it," said the General, very sincerely. "My name is Hampton" They shook hands very warmly over the bloody chasm, and the stranger turned out to be Representative Caulk, of Wisconsin.

A Beautiful Thought—Memorial Day.

There is something touchingly sweet in allowing the mind to linger reflectingly on the memories of the dead. It is pleasant to turn aside from the busy cares of this work-a-day world, to dwell on the past and deduce morals therefrom. These thoughts are suggested by the memorial season. A season when every true hearted southron dedicates a short time to the brave soldiers who fell in the war. There's nothing unpatriotic in this. It is with no spirit of repining or disappointment, no wish to disrupt the Union, to repeat our bloody experience, but it is rimply to evince our love and devotion to our slain kindred that these memorial ceremonies are indulged.

Flowers, typical of God's smiles, are to fit tribute with which to garland their graves. Flowers, the symbols of it.nocent and purity. Flowers, always connected with the more refined sentiment of man.

Let us all turn out heartily to celebrate the 20th. Let us all forsake our ordinary routine of daily affairs to pay a passing thought on the dead who died for their caused.—Tarboro Southerner.

MULL MUZZLED.

ATTACK ON THE LOCAL OF THE GREENSBORO PATRIOT.

A Scoundrel Attempts to Horsewhip the Young Reporter of the Greensboro Daily Patriot—Narrow Escape From Lynching—The Trial—Sentenced to Jail and Fined.

From our Greensboro Correspondent.

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 17, 1880.

This, heretofore, quiet little city has within the past few days been in the wildest state of excitement. Last Friday afternoon, Dr. S. P. Mull, who claims to be a veterinary surgeon, and is connected with a livery, sale, and exchange stable in Greensboro, had a difficulty with one Chaney of Roberson county, who is at present stopping in the city.

The local editor of the Daily Patriot, alive to the interests and demands of the readers of that springhtly journal, in keeping them posted in the occurences and news of the day, took occasion to write an article relating to it and the disposition of the case, which appeared in the issue of Saturday evening.

Shortly after the carriers had distributed the paper, Dr. Mull went to the office and entering the room where the Local and Mr. Townsend, the bookkeeper, were sitting, asked the Local if he was the author of a certain article. Receiving an affirmative answer, Dr. Mull drew a horsewhip from underneath his coat and inflicted six or seven blows upon him before he could retreat. Just here it may not be amiss to say that the young man is quite small, about 18 years of age, and weighs less than 100 pounds, while the doctor is a very large man and weighs upwards of 250 pounds.

Dr. Mull then attempted to enter Captain Fulghum's room, and after striking at that gentleman twice, was finally driven back by the printers in the office.

THE GREATEST EXCITEMENT

prevailed as the news spread rapidly through the city, and when the difference in the size of the two men were considered, and the slight provocation for so great an outrage, it was with difficulty that lynching could be prevented, and after the doctor had been taken to jail, it was ascertained that a rope had been secured, so that quick and decisive work must have been calculated upon.

The excitement somewhat abated after Dr. Mull was taken to jail, until this morning.

Messrs. Scott & Caldwell and Colonel John N. Staples appeared as counsel for the prosecution, and Messrs. George H. Gregory and Ed. D. Steele for the defendant.

Mr. Gregory arose and said that he desired to enter the plea of "guilty" in both cases, whereupon the Court examined Messrs. Ed. L. Pell, Captain R. T. Fulghum, E. C. Townsend and C. F. Thomas, whose testimony corroborate the statement made above. The case was argued briefly by the counsel, when Justice Eckel passed judgment in the cases in which Messrs. Pell and Fulghum were interested as follows: For assault on E. L. Pell, 30 days' imprisonment and costs, and upon the expiration of the time of imprisonment the defendant to give bond in the sum of $500 to keep the peace toward E. L. Pell and all good citizens of the State for six months. For assault on R. T. Fulghum, $5 fine and costs.

There was another case against him before the same magistrate, but your correspondent did not wait to get the results.

The Mayor said to the writer, "Come up to my levee after this tribunal is over; I have three cases against him," meaning Dr. Mull. Whether or not the Mayor will call his cases is not at this writing determined upon.

Justice Eckel went to the full extent of the law in the case of Mr. Pell. At this writing the excitement has ceased and all are anxious to see the Patriot.

OCCASIONAL.

Letter From Forsythe.

VIENNA, May 15, 1880.

MR. EDITOR: A feeling comes over me to write you a few lines about the news politically and otherwise from this county to-day. Some of our farmers are getting along very well with their work. The young tobacco plants are not looking well on account of the late cold snap, other crops as well as can be expected under the circumstances. This county is as far as I can learn, undoubtedly for Thomas J. Jarvis for Governor, and Col. Thomas M. Holt for Lieutenant-Governor.

Everybody knows Governor Jarvis too well and favorably for me to say anything in his behalf. Col. Holt, is a successful manufacturer and farmer. He is a highly cultivated gentleman in the broadest acceptation of the term. Col. Walter Clark is our choice for Attorney General. The remainder of the ticket I don't hear much said about. With the above ticket the Democratic party can carry their banners to a victorious triumph on November next. This is all the news I know of, so will close at present. Truly &c.,

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1880.

CHARLOTTE and Greenville, S. C., are now connected by telephone.

THE Afghan war has already cost England and India $65,000,000.

JUDGE TOURGEE it is said will devote his entire attention hereafter to literary labors.

WADE HAMPTON was the first man in the Senate to favor Kellogg's retaining his seat.

THE aged Russian Gen. Todleben, of Crimean war fame is to be made Governor of Warsaw.

GEN. LONGSTREET is spoken of for the Post Master Generalship. How the mighty is fallen.

COL. WM. JOHNSON, of Mecklenburg is prominently mentioned for Congress from the 6th District.

COL. WALTER CLARK the author of the "Mud Cut boom" seems to be booming for Attorney General.

A CALF was born on a Kentucky farm the other day which weighed one hundred and five pounds at birth.

THIS country is afflicted with cyclones, hailstorms, fires, and politics. These four things are enough to ruin any country.

SECRETARY SHERMAN says there if now over forty millions of standard silver dollars in the United States Treasury.

POSTMASTER James of New York City, very sensibly declines to be made Post-master-General. He's got a fatter thing than that.

THE River and Harbor bill before the present Congress appropriates $8,500,000, and is the largest appropriation of this kind ever asked for.

WHEN such men as Senators Pendleton, Gordon, Butler and several others of like standing oppose the unseating of Kellogg, we think he should keep his seat.

GEN. SHERMAN and Quartermaster General Meiggs strongly advocate the completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad. They put it on the ground of a military necessity.

TWENTY-TWO emigrant vessels left Queenstown last week for New York. The steamship companies are unable to meet the demands for emigrant accommodation from Great Britain and Ireland.

THE State of Missouri seems to be for Tilden. Two-thirds of the newspapers in that State are for him. Nearly every county goes instructed to the State Convention for him, and so the sickly boom goes.

THEY have a new religion in Indiana called "White Lightning Religion." We've heard of "lightning whisky," but never of lightning religion. Wonder if it effects like its namesake "lightning whisky."

THE Supreme Court of New York last week admitted a colored man to the New York bar. The motion for admission was made by a Democratic attorney. He is the first of his race ever admitted to practice law in the Empire State.

THE imposts at New York for the month of April is greater than that of any other month in the history of this country. The imposts for April foots up $1,260,326 in excess of the month of April 1872, the then banner month in the impost business.

A CINCINNATI news paper has made a canvass of the late big Methodist Conference which resulted in the finding of only one Democrat in the whole four hundred members, and this one was for Hancock. The majority were for Grant.

THE Brunswick County Democratic Convention, which met last Monday, instructed its delegates to the State Convention to vote for Judge Fowle for Governor, and the delegates to the Congressional Convention to vote for Major C. M. Steadman for Congress.

PRESIDENT HAYES has determined upon a new departure, and is going to the Pacific coast this summer. This is something a President never did before while the country is quarreling over his successor, he'll be enjoying himself in the Golden State.

THE leading colored men of the country are demanding that Senator Bruce be put upon the Republican ticket as nominee for Vice-President. White Republicans like for the colored men to vote for them, but they don't like to vote for colored men. We fail to see their consistency. "What is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander."

THE Cincinnati Gazette talks of reading Gen. Grant out of the Republican party because he speaks favorably of what he saw during his late Southern tour. Is the Gazette the Republican party? Hasn't Grant filled the Republican bill? His administration was as corrupt as the most Republican heart could wish.

THE notorious Gen. John Pope will relieve Gen. Schofield from the command at West Point. A good soldier must be sacrificed to appease the advisers of negro cadet Whittaker. The best thing that can be done for Whittaker is to retire him to some farm or stable down South. Give him command of a hoe or plow, for instance.

THE New York Sun calls Blaine an eleventh hour man, and puts it thusly Mr. Blaine is now a conscientious opponent of a third term. Had his conscience got up earlier, and if he had resolutely and heroically opposed and denounced the third term from the hour it was first spoken of, he would almost inevitably have been the Republican candidate, and very likely the next President. Great as his political sins are, they might have been forgiven in view of such a sublime example. Alas for Mr. Blaine—his conscience slept!

WE call the attention of our readers to the report on our fourth page, of the outrageous attack upon the local editor of the Green Loro Patriot on Saturday afternoon as given by our Greensboro correspondent. This was one of the most dastardly and ruffianly attacks ever committed in our State on the liberty of the press.

Mr. Pell the local editor weighs only one hundred and eight pounds whilst his assailant Mull pulls down the scales at between two and three hundred. Mull also attempted to attack Capt. Fulghum the editor-in-chief. We are glad to know that this attempt at muzzling the press culminated in thirty days imprisonment, payment of cost, and at expiration of that time a five hundred dollar bond to keep the peace by the ruffian Mulls.

TRADE MARK. Seminal Pastille
An entirely New and positively effective Remedy for the speedy, safe and permanent cure of Seminal Emissions and Impotency by the only true way, viz., Direct Application to the principal seat of the disease. The Pastilles are introduced into the system with the ordinary passage of the urine, and does not in the least interfere with the process. The mode of treatment has no resemblance whatever to the usual methods of cure. They are prepared by an Eminent Physician, and is now a positively certain remedy for Spermatorrhœa. Partial obstruction, caused by an enlarged prostate gland, will in a few days yield to the mild and healing influence of these Pastilles. It is confidently asserted that in no case of Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, Premature Decay, or any other form of these complaints, will the Pastilles fail to effect a permanent cure, unless the organs are entirely destroyed. The Remedy is prepared in strict accordance with the laws governing the Materia Medica, and contains no mineral, no Sulphate of Zinc, Iodine, Phosphorus, Cubebs, Copaiba, Cantharides, or any of the usual drugs used in the treatment of these diseases. Full directions for use are enclosed in each package. Full description of the symptoms of these diseases, and the treatment required, will be sent, sealed in a plain envelope, to any one who will send their address. Price, $2 per box, or three boxes for $5. Sent by mail, postage paid, to any address, on receipt of price. Address

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy.

In addition to the testimonials to be found in another column of our paper, as an act of justice to the worthy and energetic lady who prepares it, and for the benefit of those who may need it, we take pleasure in stating that we have been, for a year past, a witness of its wonderful curative properties in many cases. All who have tried it say that they have been benefitted by its use.

We have for several months used it, at times as an appetizer and tonic with great benefit. We not only had no appetite, but the sight of food was disagreeable. After using the medicine a few days we had a good appetite, relished food, and digested it well. And this has been the experience of several of our friends. But the most remarkable property of the medicine is, it is

A CURE FOR DRUNKENESS.

A friend, living in one of the Eastern counties of this State, was using it with great benefit for an ulcer on his face. We met him, and in conversation about the medicine, jocularly remarked that it must go very hard with him to give up his whiskey, as Mrs. P. does not allow the use of it, when he replied that the medicine supplied the need and craving for stimulants, and that he not only did not feel like drinking liquor, but had an aversion to it. On inquiry, we found others who corroborated this statement. Now if the use of this harmless medicine, concocted of our native herbs, will enable the victims of a morbid appetite to overcome their craving for drink, it will be a greater boon to the human race than any discovery of the age. We so fully believe the statement that we would urge upon all who may need it to give it a trial.—William J. Clarke, Editor Signal, Feb. 5th, 1880.

The medicine can be procured of our Druggists, or of

SIDE-WALK NOTES.

—Rather dull yesterday.

—Revenue receipts, $634,96

Exceedingly warm and dusty yesterday.

—Mr. P. F. Pescud, Sr., is on the sick list.

—The Good Templars held a large meeting last night.

—Col. Walter Clark has returned from Halifax Court.

—Gen. R. F. Hoke left yesterday afternoon for Baltimore.

—The Chemical and Hook and Ladder companies pic-nic to-morrow.

—Big time at Durham, Charlotte, and Tarboro, being the 20th of May.

—No old bond or drummer's or marriage licenses issued yesterday.

—Pic-nic of the Person Street Methodist Sunday school to-morrow at Faison's farm.

—A batch of convicts are to be soon sent to Jones county to construct a turnpike road.

—The 8:45 R. & G. mail train ran over and kill a cow yesterday morning near the old Depot.

—J. R. Smith of Fayetteville has been appointed Aide-de-camp to Gen. Taylors' second brigade.

—The funeral of the Sergeant of the East Raleigh Guards, colored, took place yesterday afternoon.

—The Greensboro Presbyterian Sunday School will excursion to Raleigh on their annual pic-nic, June 1st.

Drummer's license have been issued C. W. Thorn & Co., Richmond, and Seevers & Anderson, Baltimore, Md.

—An amatuer made singer lately frightened too canary birds to death. It was a case of killing two birds with one stone, we suppose.

—The receipt of an invitation to attend the commencement exercises of Horner's School at Oxford, N. C., June 3rd, is acknowledged. Address by R. W. Winston, A. B.

—Attention is called to the new advertisement of Rosenthal & Co. They keep everything to be found in a first class dry goods establishment and sell as low as the lowest.

—We are pleased to be able to state that Dr. F. J. Haywood, Sr., who was partially paralyzed Sunday last, was considerably better last night. The Doctor is 79 years old.

—A man coming out of a Texas Newspaper office, with one eye gorged out, his nose spread all over his face, and one ear chewed off, replied to a policeman who interviewed him: "I didn't like an article that appeared in the paper yesterday, and I went in ter see the man who writ it, and—he were thar!"

Knights of Honor.

Regular meeting of Oak City, No. 419, Knights of Honor, to-night. Prompt attendance is requested.

Unmailable Matter.

A letter with no address, and one addressed to to Miss Eliza Barns, care of Mr. Churcher, Warren County,—no post office—are held at the post office in this city.

More Convicts for the Railroads.

One hundred more convicts were yesterday shipped, "right side up with care," to Greensboro', to work on the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad.

Base Ball.

There will be a match game played this (Wednesday May 19,) evening between the Hasty B. B. Club, and the Olympic B. B. Club, for a bat and ball, in the Depot field at 4:30 p. m. The members of the Clubs are requested to be punctually on hand.

Trinity College.

We acknowlepge the receipt of an invitation to the Trinity College commencement, Thursday evening, June 10th. The commencement exercises of this College are of the most pleasant and instructive characters. Phil. Holland, Jr., Chief Manager, J. M. Bodie, Leesville, S. C., Chief Marshal.

Randolph Macon College.

The commencement exercises of the Franklin and Washington Literary Societies of Randolph Macon College, comes off on the seventeenth of June. The Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage, D. D., of New York, delivers the address. The receipt of an invitation to attend is acknowledged.

Police Court.

One Charlotte Hill, a dusky damsel, addicted to street walking, would not be content with walking the streets, but must create a disturbance on the thoroughfares most frequented by her charming self, and behave in a disorderly manner generally. The Mayor charg $1 and costs for the latter freak, at his morning levee yesterday.

Rocking Trains.

It is the determination of the Richmond & Danville R. R. Company to have every instance in which a train is rocked or fired into investigated, and offenders severely punished.

The act of 1876 makes the offense one punishable by imprisonment in the Penitentiary.

On yesterday Mr. F. H. Busbee attorney for the road, had a negro arrested near Clayton for throwing a small stick of wood at the train. The offender proved to be a small boy and he was allowed to go after a severe whipping from his father in the presence of the constable. The Railroad Company is in earnest in having every case punished,—and very properly so.

Ex-Union Soldiers.

There will be a meeting of the Ex-Union Soldiers Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the office of A. W. Shaffer. All are requested to attend.

The Baptist's Pic-nic.

We are requested to state that there will be a Sunday School mass meeting to-night at 8 o'clock, at the Salisbury street Baptist Church, for the purpose of making final arrangements for the grand union Baptist pic-nic which takes place on Saturday next. All the Baptists of the city are invited to attend.

"The Land of the Sky.

No one, who intends to visit western North Carolina this summer, should fail to first read. "The land of the sky," by Christian Reid. This is the more fascinating description of our mountain country ever written, and a perusal of the book will add much to the pleasure of your visit. Alfred Williams &Co, will mail the book post paid for 75 cent paper; cloth, $1,25.

The Monumental Fund.

The committee yesterday received the following additional subscriptions for the monument to be erected over the grave of Messrs. Crocker and McMillan: R. B Andrews 1; D. T. Adams 1; T. R. Loader 1; cash 50; J. J. Nowell 2; John A. McDonald 1; Hinsdale & Devereaux 1; cash 50; R. T. Gray 1; W. G. Upchurch 2. E. J. Harden 1; W. H. Pace 1; R. J. Harriss 1; cash 50; Maj. W. H. Bagley 1; G. We have since learned that the Good Templars at their meeting held last night received an additional amount of subscriptions to the amount of $100,00, making a grand total $309.87.

Good Irish.

Some good things are told on our Irish citizens, the following is the latest. This conversation is said to have taken place in Raleigh:

"Good morning, Pat!" said Dennis.
"Top of the morning to yer Dennis," replied Pat.
"How's it with yer neow Pat? Yer seem in a squandry."
"Bedad, but its all rich yeare without knowin' it. It's a provoking drahme I've had."
"A drahme? Was it good or bad?"
"Bad luck to yer, but it was a little of both. I drahmed I was with the Pope, who was as great a boy as any in the town, and he asked me if I would drink. Thinks I, would a duck swim? I told him I wouldn't mind if I did."
"Cowld or hot?" says the Pope.
"Hot," says I; and with that he stepped down to the kitchen for hot water; but before he got back I woke up. It's disthressing to me I didn't take it cowld, bad luck to the ship that brought my appetite across the watheder!"

A SEWARD STORY.

Cleveland Leader.

In 1854, while Seward was practicing law in Auburn, New York, a Whig convention was held for the purpose of nominating a county ticket. A Prosecuting Attorney was to be selected and a certain old Judge Blank was an aspirant for the office. He had served his county as Surrogate for a great many years, and had for nearly half a century been identified with the politics of his neighborhood. At that time Seward was a young and struggling lawyer, and had no idea or intention of making a matyr of himself by accepting an office. He was identified as a Whig, and to him was assigned the task of writing an address for old Judge Blank, which was to be read in open convention as soon as the Judge secured the nomination. In those days it was the custom to do this, and the addresses were, of course, as a usual thing' eulogistic in the extreme. Well, Seward, feeling highly flattered over the assignment, went to work with a will, and wrote a most voluminous and elaborate document, in which he recited the many good traits of the old Judge, and dwelt especially upon the number of years the ancient gentlemen had served this party. For some reason he left a blank space whenever he had occasion to mention Mr. Blank's name, supposing the Secretary of the convention would fill it up when the uomination was made. It so happened that when the day of contest arrived Seward was called out of town, and was consequently unable to attend. The old Judge was on hand bright and early notwithstanding and labored industriously and confidently among his constituents until the delegates assembled. Finaliy the Prosecuting Attorney nomination was in order, and to the astonishment of all the Judge was left out in the cold and young Seward carried off the honors, amidst the cheers of the delegates. The Secretary hurriedly picked up the address intended for the Judge, add, without looking at its contents, hastily filled in Sewards name and read it to the convention. The next day Seward, while yet in a distant town, picked up a copy of an Auburn paper and found that he had been nominated for Prosecuting Attorney. Looking further he discovered that Judge Blank's address, which he himself had written, and which was not applicable to any one but the one it was intended for, was applied to him, and that it spoke of his many years' service as Surrogate and his half century devotion to his party, etc., etc.,

The feelings of Seward may be imagined. In after years he took great delight in relatinb the story, considering it a pretty good joke on both the old judge and himself.

The seventieth anniversary of the American board of foreign missions was held in New York. The present force of the board numbers 141 ordained ministers, 227 assistants, 1,171 native helpers. The number of churches is 261, with 15,000 church members. The donations from churches during the past six years have decreased by more than $100,000, and will need to be advanced beyond those of last year at least 40 per cent.

"I'm not as strong as I thought I was;
Some votes I cannot handle,"
Then S. J. Tilden clenched his paws.
"That's my case, too," said Randall.
Then Samuel J. and Samuel J.
Remarked to one another:
"If neither one shall win the day,
We'll each embrace the other."

Opposed the Boom.

State Journal.

We know that Gov. Robinson was as anxious for the sale of the road under the Best proposition as Gov. Jarvis, was, and that, like Gov. Jarvis, he denounced the demagogry of the "Mud-Cut Boom," and knew, as Gov. Jarvis did, and as all intelligent men must know, that it was the Boom that precipitated the "Western N. C. R. R. question" upon the people. The history of the transaction clearly shows that the question of the sale of the road was precipitated upon Gov. Jarvis, and that he had but one alternative—to decline to entertain the Best proposition and unwarrantably reject it, or to entertain it and submit it.

The Best and only Remedy.

628 L. ST., WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9, 1879.

H. H. WARNER & Co—Gentlemen—I have known of the remedy now called Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, for the past eight months, and can personally testify to its efficiency in kidney and liver troubles. I can truthfully say that in my opinion it is the best and only efficient remedy for such troubles ever brought before the public. Yours, very truly,
COL. JOHN K. MCCHESNEY.

Yesterday, To-day and To-morrow.

The war is over—the battle-fields of the recent unpleasantness are overgrown with flows or are cultivated farms—the old names once so familiar to every reader of a newspaper are daily disappearing among the silent majority, and yet the sun rises and sets—new issues present themselves and the mottled web of life is spun on—but one thing seems fixed and certain that in each June and December in the city of New Orleans, Generals G. T. Beaugard, of La., and Jubal A Early, of Va., conduct with exact fairness and justice the semi-annual drawings of the Loisiana State Lottery Company, and over half million dollars are given away. For particulars write to M. A. Dauphin, New Orleans, La., or same person at No. 319 Broadway, New York City.

Any one desiring a suit made up to order, we take great pleasure in taking measure for parties and ordering the desired garment of the well known House of Wanamaker & Brown of Philadelphia, whose agents we are. We have a full line of samples representing their stock, on exhibition.

Get More Oxygen.

The Philadelphia Business Advocate, speaking of the new and remarkably successful treatment, for chronic diseases, known as "Compound Oxygen," says: We call particular attention to this new treatment, and especially for those who are suffering from chest or catarrhal diseases, or from any of the various forms of neuralgia. The larger amount of oxygen which it furnishes to the lungs gives a higher degree of warmth and vitality to the sytem, and so fortifies it against the the assaults of winter. A few years ago a gentleman of this city, with lungs so weak and vitality so slow that he was obliged to seek a southern latitude every winter or confine himself to the house from December to March, was induced by a friend who had received great benefit from the oxygen treatment, to give it a trial. The result was not only improved health, but the ability to remain in the city all through the colder season of the year. We believe that he has not been south since he commenced to use the oxygen." If you wish to know all about this treatment, write to Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1112 Girard Street, Philadelphia, Pa., for their "Treatise on Compound Oxygen." It will be sent free.

Steele & Price.

For years the firm of Steele & Price have had the largest trade in their specialties of any house in the United States. Their Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder, Special Flavoring Extracts and Perfumes, have gained a reputation for excellence that no articles of their kind have ever yet acquired.

S. T. Williams, a prominent druggist of Salisbury, Md., wrote, Jan. 25, 1878: "Send me one dozen Tutt's Pills, and if they prove what you claim for them I will order more." Feb. 19, he writes: "Send me two dozen more of Dr. Tutt's Liver Pills, by return mail. They are doing wonders here"

Modern Chemistry.

By the chemical skill of Dr. Price, we have now for our ices, cream and pastry, the most delicious fruit flavors. Those who wish to make their delicacies enjoyable, will make use of Dr. Price's Special Flavoring Extracts, on account of the nice flavor.

I have in store a nice and select stock of Walnut and Cheap Furniture from the best manufactures in the East and West. Bought in the last four months previous to the late advance in prices, which I will sell for cash at less prices than such good have ever been sold for in Raleigh before, or any market outside of Raleigh; freight and express added.

Nice first class Walnut Dressing Case Suits at $50, worth $65; Suits at $60 worth $75, Bureau Suits at $40 and $45; three marble fine Walnut French Dressing Suits. French Plate Glass for $110, worth $130. All Suits have ten pieces. Also a nice line of Walnut marble top Tables at $5, $6, $7.50 $8.00, $12.50; $15.00. Walnut Hat Racks $7.50; $8.00 and $10.00. Side Boards at less than they can be bought for at factory. Wardrobes, Extension Tables, Parlour Suits, Rocking Chairs, Lounges, all kind of Chairs in fact every thing found in a first class furniture store. All who contemplate buying soon will save money by buying new goods purchased now and paid for. I will keep goods until September 1st, if required to do so. I wish to discontinue the furniture business is my reason for offering my stock at such prices.

I will sell my stock as a whole to any one wishing to engage in the business. Call and examine for yourself. I want to get out of the business if I can without two great a sacrafice.
